Important Auction Sale of Estancia Remedios.

Mr. THOMAS GOWLAND will Sell by Public Auction, without failure ON THURSDAY, 10th December at twelve o'clock precisely, said well-known Estancia, situated on the River Medanza, about six leagues from the City.

The ground consists of nearly two square leagues, all fenced in with wire and ditch, and is divided into six lots, each having brick houses and other accessories.

Plans of the Estancia can be had at the Auctioneer's Calle Defensa, No. 114, also inventories explaining each lot, its superficie, buildings, galpones, corrales, aguada, trees, fences and ditches, alfalfares, &c.

Such a brilliant opportunity seldom occurs for a good investment. The proximity of the Estancia to the City and its situation on a permanent river give it a value which must augment with the increasing prosperity of the country.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1863.

THE THREATENED WAR.

There is a great deal of talk at present about the situation of the country.

In the "Nacion Argentina" of Tuesday we read an article entitled "La Situacion del Plata," but which so far from explaining to the public the real state of the country, is nothing more nor less than a justification for declaring war against the Banda Oriental. We attach more than usual importance to the article in question, because we are led to believe that it emanates from the President's own pen. The writer defending the National Government, says,

That its policy has been prudent and energetic,

That it has triumphed over all the complications which threatened the country,

That it has refused to adhere to the Continental alliance in favour of Mexico,

That it has scrupulously respected the rights of all.

That it has settled the foreign claims,

That it has cultivated the most friendly relations with every Governments, and thus secured on a sound basis our international relations.

Now we are willing to admit all this and furthermore that the present Government is the best the country ever had, but we nevertheless cannot coincide with the writer in his views on the Oriental subject. He makes the following distinct charges against the Montevidean Government.

That President Berro alleges the invasion of Flores was connived at by this Government in order to annex the Banda Oriental to the Argentine Republic.

That the Oriental Government urged on by some refugee Argentines has conspired against the peace of this country.

That it has sought an alliance with the Chacho,

That it is instigating Entre Rios and Corrientes to rebel.

That it has sought an alliance with Paraguay, promising to yield to it Martin Garcia on condition of making a treaty offensive and defensive, and that therefore measures should be taken to stop the Oriental Republic from hurting us.

What is this if not a declaration of war?

We do not now mean to take up the cause of the Oriental Govt. to defend its acts, or justify its political conduct, but as we are willing to accord all the promises in favour of our Government, we think it will not be judged imprudent to rebut some of the charges made against a country which has been plunged into the very depths of anarchy and ruin by an invader from our own shores.

We ask all sensible men, if in Montevideo a gang of refugee politicians conspire against the peace of this country, is not the same done openly in this city against the Banda Oriental?

Has not the Oriental Government some pretext for animosty against us, when each day President Berro and his Government is not only abused, ridiculed, and insulted in Buenos Ayres, but the most undeniable public sympathy expressed for the invader?

If Berro has sought alliances with our enemies, has he done so before bad loads of volunteers left our harbour? If he has offered Martin Garcia to Paraguay, is not the unfortunate man to be pitied more than censured, that driven to desperation at the present heartrending condition of his native country, he grasps at anything to induce a friendly hand to help him in this hour of affliction.

And are these the reasons why the peace of this country is to be disturbed? We admit that the Oriental Government has acted in many ways unjustifiably, that the Argentine flag has been insulted; in fact we admit for the sake of argument every charge made against the Oriental Government, but we insist that due allowance should be made for President Berro in his present trying position. If he leagues with our enemies or offers to distribute Argentine territory, let us laugh at him, but fight him—no.

It would be ungenerous on the part of this nation to attack him now when his country is in such a state of revolution.

We appeal to Argentine honor not to stain the character of the nation by attacking the Oriental Republic at this hour.

We appeal to President Mitre himself, and ask him does he think it right or proper to take such advantage of the strength with the Banda Oriental torn and distracted as it is by civil war?

No—every Argentine in the country shouts—no. We cannot compromise the honor of the nation, no matter what the conduct of Berro may be.

We care Argentines the alliances which Berro may make. What care they if he offers to the President of Paraguay the city of Buenos Ayres or even the whole province. What care they if he gives a home to every political refugee, and befriends them in their need? Are these sufficient motives to justify us in the eyes of the world, for declaring war again t a country which is this moment a prey to anarchy and revolution? We emphatically say No, and we feel that we but re-echo the sentiments of every upright Argentine citizen when we declare that the industry of this country would be a declaration of war against Montevideo, the greatest stain on our national character, to attack that country in its present condition.

THE 'STANDARD' ABROAD.

ARRIVAL AT CORRIENTES.

My mission begins

Nov. 29th 1863.
Hotel Globo, Corrientes.

At 10 A. M. yesterday the Esmeralda came to anchor, within a few hundred yards of the Close or Port, and the bustle of passengers looking for their luggage was increased by the invasion of a number of boatmen, officials and interlopers. A sickly looking youth handed me a card 'Pablo Burllo, Hotel Globo,' and as Deputy Cabral had already recommended me to the latter I put myself under the guidance of this 'commissionaire.' Having learned that the Governor closed his office at noon, until the following Monday, I donned my black coat, hat, gloves &c resolved to hasten thither at once. Before I could do so however, I had to sit under a scorching sun for some minutes, stationary till my face burned like a coal, for the boatmen had not all their luggage yet, so I returned to the Esmeralda to take a view of the city.

Corrientes covers a plateau elevated about 40 feet over the waterlevel, so that I could see little but the church towers, and the few irregular edifices situate on the slope. On the extreme right is a graceful country-house belonging to Dr. Vidal; a large shrubbery leads up to the door, and a corridor all around it gives it an effect of comfort and elegance. The line of beach is studded with dusky washerwomen perfectly regardless of the fact that the thermometer stands over 90 in the shade. There are scattered fragments of a wharf, and a good deal more for building though not much used, it looks like 'tosca,' but is hard as granite. Beyond Vidal's quinta is a saladero, built by the late firm of Stock and Anderson, three tiers of windows like expense s the present owner is a Correntine. A tanning establishment and timber-ground form the centre of the picture, with the Casa de Gobierno, several palm tan chos, and a sprinkling of orange trees. Behind all this is a large barrango and not unpleasing aspect. The dark belt of foliage on the river's opposite bank, at a distance of 20 O yards, is the Great Chaco, and yonder are seen dispelled by 4 lusty oarsmen is returning from the city with Indians who traffic, or serve as sperm, at Corrientes they are distinguished from their christianised brethren by their wearing no covering on their heads. The canoe is a light skiff with high prow, and no sails: it is easily capsized, but the Indians being excellent swimmers right it again, and are seldom drowned crossing the river.

At length the boat is ready, and a few minutes brings us to shore. I paid the boatman half-a-dollar, and my travelling-bag to the 'commissionaire,' who in the blandest tone imaginable asks me to procure him a pass to carry it. Telling him that was his business I turn my steps up the hill, sinking, every moment, over six inches in the sand. Close to the Capitania is a group of damsels to whom I politely take off my hat: then entering the Custom-house I get permission to pass my bag without examination, declaring there is nothing contraband. Advancing to the door of the Government-house, where a dozen fellows are lounging in the shade, while the perspiration runs down my face, I enquire for His Excellency, and a mulato aide de camp with gold lilted sword at once steps forward to whom I give my name and the two flattering letters of introduction from the Minister of the Interior and Dn. A. C. Mendez. In two minutes I am ushered into a spacious well furnish d saloon, His Governor immediately shook me by the hands with me, leads me to a sofa "My friends, said he, Dr. Rawson and Sr. Vernet commend you to me in a very special care, and I will endeavor to make your visit as agreable and as successful as possible. I thank you for the interest you take in this province and for this visit, hoping that our common aim may be realized." We then conversed about politics, his excellency informing me that much of the seed was destroyed by a worm, before the plant appeared over ground, but in such cases the people for those sowing their seeds over again, by his directions seed was distributed gratis, and plantations now were springing up in many parts of the province. Those in the vicinity of the capital being most important, he would procure me a friend's carriage to visit the same. He also proposed a drive to se those of Empe rado, Bella Vista, San Roque and others distant several leagues, he promised me an order for post-horses, and an officer to accompany me. Before parting, he invited me to his private residence, and enquired where I stopped pronounced my call on me at the hotel. I may here state that Governor Lagrafa is a tall, portly man, about 45 years old, dark complexioned, with a few grey hairs, an open countenance, kind and unassuming manner, and a general expression of bonhomie indicative of his real character. In his canuciety he is a profession, less remarkable for learning than for a patriotic desire to advance his country. I regret to learn that his minister's unpopularity damages I him in public esteem.

Going in search of my hotel I met a gentleman with whom I had dined, and he undertook me to shew me the way, and sustained me from the hungry hands of beggars of the Close or four blocks, near 150 yards of very irregular construction; most of the houses had corridors which covered in the whole foot path, the windows being fitted out in B Ayres. No block could be called complete, for palm-trunks and orange gardens alternated with tile roofs, and shutters. The streets were from 30 to feet wide, and the houses numbered 345, 480, and 510 &c: I could not see any small number, and conclude that they imitate Insurance policies beginning a figure they can never reach.

The plaza struck me as being much the same as it consisted of a church at the North side is the Matriz or principal church, an old edifice 80 yards long, with a tile roof, and at a distance a bell tower 70 feet high in which is the town clock. The West side contains the Cabildo where the law-courts and prisons are situated, and a strong picquet of Federal troops of the Line. In front are two antique houses, one of two storeys, and the Merced church, not yet without a roof, and a tower, and a cloister attached for Franciscan friars. The house of Sor Pampin exgovernor, and that of Sor Ferre occupy make up the South side, and a column some 60 feet high stands in the centre of a multitude of weeds, around which are worn foot paths. The top of the column is surmounted by a diminutive female armed with a lance, and bears the inscription, 25 de Mayo 1810. 9 de Julio 1816. On the pedestal are the busts of 4 generals. The Cabildo is a handsome structure, with 3 arches in front ches supporting a square tower of Moorish build, which commands a view of the entire surround.

Knowing that the best way to ingratiate one's self with a new friend is to speak his vernacular, I solicited mine host of Globo to let me have lessons in Dante, and procure a clean, airy, apartment wherein to take siesta. The windows (2nd storey) are fitted out with glass, with Venetian blinds. The salone of this is faultless for those who are fast squeamish about gout. As yet I have seen no symptoms of strange leaving Buenos Ayres, and the alarm of kind friends on this head was perfectly needless.

At 3 p.m. I sallied forth to reconnitre the town, for an hour, which had the effect of convincing me it is a miserable place, and of piquing the skin off my nose, for Corrientes is really more Indian than Christian, and the heat at that hour was absolutely intolerable. I passed through the market, where fruit-stalls were numerous, and the open space around reflected the sun's glare, with painful force. Beyond this there were only scattered ranchos tor e twelve feet square, roofed with the bark of the 'Palma de Peja' (for the leaves are incorrectly stated before). This bark is shaped like a tile in pieces of six feet long, seemingly unfastened in any manner. The occupants of these ranchos were women and children, of copper color and good features: they are almost pure Guarani blood, rarely speaking Spanish, although identified with the Christians, in religion, habits and association. Some looked at me with surprise, for the streets were then deserted: a number of dogs lay about, but, better-bred than those of Buenos Ayres, offered not even to bark. Naked children were playing in the sand, but the women did not offend delicacy by any paucity of raiment.

The Governor sent to see Mr. Robert Billinghurst, who was so kind as to lend me a horse and take me to Sor. Agustin's plantation, which I purpose making a separate chapter. On my return I visited Sor. Alvarez, editor of the 'Progreso,' a well conducted semi-weekly paper. His gentleman is also post-master, and a young man of much intelligence: he has promised me some historical data concerning the city and province which I shall be happy to incorporate in a future letter. I understand there are three English residents here: Mr Pemberton who has recently married a Corrientine lady, r. Morgen a clerk in the Revenue department, and Mr. Harvey, formerly a bank-keeper, whose brother in law is a wealthy native estancier. There are a good many French and Italians, and a few Germans. The Permanent Sor. Juan J. Cambaceres is a native of Buenos Ayres, who came here as an spothecary, and is now a physician. Rheumatism is rare, but from the constant mixture of Guarani and Castilian has left but little pure white blood

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The most amusing thing we have heard of for some time is Minister Costa's trip to Urquiza. It appears that the Minister took up a secretary and a servant, and after a rather pleasant trip was landed in that famous little town called Concepcion del Uruguay. When he arrived, not having stopped the steamer before he left B. Ayres, as a matter of course no one thought much of him, and he had to find his way to the best hotel in town with his two travelling companions, he then immediately despatched his servant for a conch and horses to post to San Jose. Whilst the servant was away a carriage drove up to the hotel door, which had been ordered by an Irish gentleman who proposed also to visit San Jose to see Governor Urquiza. The coachman finding that there were such big wigs in town, sent word into the Irish gentleman that he could not wait a moment. The Irishman thought something about the Minister, went out determined to punish the impertinent coachman; he ordered the fellow in, and told him to take out the horses again and follow him: when he got coachee into his room he quietly locked the door, put the key in his own pocket, and suggested the propriety of his waiting until he Mr. T. had dressed and coffeed.

Meanwhile the servant returned, and stated that the only coach in the town was at the door, and that if that coach not be got they should have to ride to San Jose, owing to the "feos" horses were non est inventus. Our fellowcountryman, who is a perfect gentleman, and has been for many years in the British army, heard of the affair, and at once discovered the cause of the driver's hurry. Anxious to oblige the Minister, but more determined not to hold his own, he stated to a well known American gentleman who was stopping at the same hotel that he had no intention to allow the Minister to sit in his carriage as his guest, but that certainly he would not permit a private carriage to be used for the conveyance of luggage in omnibus, to oblige even Lord Palmerston. The locked-up driver began again to be impatient finding it impossible to force the door he tried the window, in a boisterous yet free and easy manner, which ended in the discovery of the difficulty which he supposed existed between the Irishman and the Minister, and which ended in his incarceration.—"The beasts will be melted in the sun if there is not a stop soon put to this," shouted out the poor fellow when he caught sight of the Minister's powerfully-built Irish employer. "I'll melt you if you don't keep quiet," replied the latter in his native Spanish, at last goaded to desperation at seeing every one taking the matter so easy, he laid hold of a revolver which he saw on the table, and swore that he would not leave Entre Rios with, that if not at once let he'd shoot himself: as a matter of course a large crowd soon collected at the window to see the exasperated driver, while his patron was in roars of laughter outside. Fearing that the driver might possibly attempt to carry his threat into execution, and thus unintentionally shoot some of the persons at the window, Mr. X liberated the afflicted coachee, and inviting his Excellency to take his seat alongside of him in the coach, off they started at last. We think it right to say that we hear Mr. T. speaks in the highest terms of the Minister whose society he had the good fortune to enjoy under such singular circumstances. We forgot to remark that from the time the driver got on the box until he arrived at San José, the fellow never looked behind, but kept driving his horses at a fearful rate. Our friend Mr. T. has promised to send us a description of San José, and his impressions of its master and mistress as soon as he gets time.

It is rumoured that five regiments of volunteers have offered their services to Pres. Mitre in case of war with the Banda Oriental.

The 'Pavon' arrived yesterday but there is no news from the provinces. Business is a little brisker in Rosario. Sr. Hames had addressed an important letter to the Governor of Santa Fé, respecting his enterprise.

The Nat. Government is about entering into a contract with certain parties here, for the introduction of one thousand French soldiers, at 870 francs per head.

In the City, it is generally believed that a war with Montevideo is inevitable, and that the Govt. is taking every precaution accordingly.

The Buenos Ayres Great Southern Railway Co. has held its meeting, and the resolutions which we published duly passed. There is nothing now to prevent the road from being at once begun

Mr. and Mrs. Rickard have arrived at the Azul Inn, after a very pleasant trip. Peace is completely restored to the interior, and things are beginning to look well in nearly all of the provinces.

Sarmiento, it is said, will not go to Washington as Minister. He prefers to stop in San Juan.

The Hon. Mr. Washbourne, United States' Minister, arrived last week in town from Paraguay, on a short visit. We welcome this distinguished American citizen among us.

The farmers state that they are still in daily fear of rain as every one is watering their sheep both in the North and South.

The Acclimatisation Society, respectfully we publish a rather interesting letter from Mr Parish, is about getting a branch started here, in order to the products of the Argentine plains may become more generally known in England.

On Sunday evening, some of the gunners on board of our war steamers seem to have been rather impatient for sunset. They kept firing away long before sundown, as if saluting the "lads in blue," instead of discharging the 'evening gun.'

It is said that a certain party who holds the key of the proposed tramway between Barro, Urquiza, and Lopez, was offered four thousand ounces for it, and refused. This seems hardly credible.

The 'Perro-Carril,' of Rosario, attacks the National Government for naming Sarmiento to Washington, and asserts that he is much more useful as Governor of San Juan.

Dr. Dn. Lorenzo Torres will leave here shortly for Paraguay, as Argentine Minister to that country.

Good wools in the markets we'l very well, but dark, dusty South wools, offer over 40p. 2 in their price this year.

GREAT EXCITEMENT

RAY BENTO!! IN AN UPROAR

The 'Standa d' Agent A rested

In the future annals of this unprecedenting little city, the 1st December, 1863, will be regarded as an important date. Many, no doubt, have been the vicissitudes of Ray Bentos, since the commencement of the Flores' row many have been the scenes witnessed in its streets, the difficulties in its palpering. It has been captured and re-captured, until its sorrows would form au iliad for an Oriental poet; but, in common parlance, "the 1st of December topped them all.' The Villa del Salto seemed into the harbour where lay the merchantmen of the world. On that eventful day, right under the frowning cliffs, and in the teeth of hostile parties, the Oriental Lord Exmouth shot into the very wharf, and then and there despatched an officer, with a handful of men, to arrest Mr. Bamerbich, the worthy vendor of the 'Standard;' they burst into his house like an avalanche, and marched him down to the beach. Mr. Bamerbich remained behind to search the house for the seditious correspondence. A very suspicious looking document was discovered, written in Spanish, and was pounced upon at once; even the beds were violated, and the common orcilla wool scattered to the winds. Satisfied, however, that they had sufficient to condemn him in the document in question, they hurried on board. The engineer, who was the only man in the vessel who understood English, being called on deck by the quarter-deck, was appointed of the importance of his present position; the dark suspicions entertained against the prisoner, and requested to state what was the the import of the document in question. The engineer, who is a Scotchman, and a subscriber to the 'Standard,' burst out into one of those peculiar horse laughs, on looking at the paper. Laughing is, and always has been, contagious; the sailors on deck, the soldiers below, down even to the very stokers, all joined in the laughing, without knowing or caring for what they laughed; the captain stamped and swore, but the poor Scotchman heeded him little, and kept roaring in the most immoderate laughter. At last, when he had slightly overcome the fit—but still there was a tittering expression about his features—he shouted out, 'don't you see, man, that this paper is no more nor less than a list of 'Standards' sold by this man for the 'Standard.' Then began the right laughing. People on shore thought that Mr. B. was holding some sort of inflammable stories; others that Banovitch's pole brandy was on board. The captain, satisfied that he had seized the right stage, steamed right out of port to Montevideo, where, as a matter of course. Mr. B. was at once set at liberty, and has since returned to Bray Bentos.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT

ANOTHER CO CH DROWNED

Our readers will recollect that only a few days since we published an account of a sad accident which occurred to the Gualeguay diligence when about to cross the 'valsa.'

We regret to say, that it is now our duty to record an accident of a similar nature, but almost terminating fatally.

It appears that a lady, whose family has resided close to Gualeguay, was driving in her carriage from that little town. When the coachman arrived at the river, he hailed the old man who kept the pass, and requested that he would place his float, or 'valsa,' in the proper place. The old Entre Riano drew up the 'valsa,' and told the coachman to drive in his coach on it; the jurvey complied, as far as whipping his horses, who, with a sort of instinct of what was going to occur, backed and reared, and until beaten most unmercifully, refused to go into the 'valsa,' at last he got them fair on it, and was with whipping and shouting, drove right down. But the old story. The moment the first horse touched the 'valsa,' off she goes, and down went coach, coachman, young lady, horses and all. Every exertion of diligencey was soon stopped by the flow of waters. The heroic coachman, however, forgot not in that trying moment the young lady, but fear was soon driven out of duty, and rescued the almost drowned female from a watery grave. The horses, as a matter of course drowned, and the coach embedded in the river Gualeguay, where it will remain until some patent elevator is introduced for the purpose of extricating from the diligencey coaches from the arroyos of Entre Rios.

We may observe, that if the price of the horses, diligences,-and coaches lost in this 'valsa' be added to the sum total collected, it would build a magnificent bridge over any river in that province.

Our Entre Rianos seem determined sinning to get alarmed now, and call great attention to the matter; possibly, they'll go to think, that it is not at all absolutely necessary that any more of these days be travelling, if not in a private coach, in one of the diligences, and not to pay all nonsense to get a consolatory bath. It is time that something should be done in the matter. We believe, one million of pasadores was subscribed for the bridge, but what has been done with the money? One thing is certain, that the National Government has not spent one dollar on new 'valsas' or bridges in Entre Rios.

THE NATIONAL EXCHEQUER

As far as we can learn, the national treasury is at this moment unusually low; and if we are to believe one of our colleagues, the Argentine Government is hardly able to pay its own employes. However, this may be, there is no doubt of one thing, that the guerilla warfare with the Chacho has drained the Exchequer, and left the Finance Minister of the nation in a rather unpleasant predicament.

Notwithstanding his acknowledged abilities, Minister Elizalde is beginning to find himself unequal to the task which his office imposes; and whether from laxity or otherwise, there is serious grounds for believing that the finances of the nation are in a most dilapidated condition.

MINISTER TO BRAZIL

We understand that his Excellency President Mitre has appointed Sr. Marcelino Ezcurra Minister to the Court of Brazil. We earnestly hope that this distinguished diplomatist will speedily leave the Mount for Rio, before any further difficulty arises, and that in his future diplomatic career he will not forget the lesson he was taught by the premature selling of the 'Liberted,' which nearly cost the life of the gentleman who stopped to finish his dinner.

LIFE, RURAL NEWS

We read in the "BerroCarril," of Rosario, that news has arrived by last packet respecting the immigration contract with a German house for ten thousand families for the province of Santa Fe, and that Mr. Beyfuss has received orders to proceed to measure the land in question.

This contract, it may be remembered, was entered into with the house of Werner and Co., of this city.

The Acclimatization Society.

British Consulate, Dec., 1863.

Gentlemen,

I observe by a publication in your paper a few days ago that you are alive to the interesting subject of "Acclimatization," which the growing wants of this progressive age has called into existence as a means of serving the cause of humanity; and I am satisfied that you will kindly assist me in bringing the subject before the Buenos Ayrean public, as a means of inducing them to study their own interests and to co-operate towards the objects of the society formed in England for the above purpose, well persuaded that our efforts in this cause might be productive of mutual benefit to the two countries by bringing into notice many of the hitherto hidden treasures of this part of the world, and by the more rapid introduction of many useful products into one or other country.

The principal objects of our English Acclimatization Society are almost too well known to require description: they are the introduction, propagation, and acclimation in the United Kingdom and the British colonies of such animals, birds, fishes, insects, and vegetables as are calculated to be useful or ornamental, either as articles of food for the people, or for manufacturing or other purposes, selecting such specimens as are so constituted as to offer a reasonable prospect of successful acclimatization. When we consider that the commercial wealth of the country has hitherto been derived almost exclusively from the product of animals which have been introduced at different periods, and from being congenial to the soil and climate, have spread over the vast uncultivated plains of this continent, supp ying the wants of the population and they have become the principal source of the native wealth, it may, with good reason, presume that the cultivation of this taste in a more comprehensive form might, if well directed, lead to still further advantages.

It is the desire of the society in England to put themselves in communication with other similar societies abroad for the purpose of facilitating the necessary intercourse and interchange of objects between the countries; and it might be useful, if not necessary, to secure the full benefits laid out by the system of acclimatization to organise such a society in Buenos Ayres; and it occurs to me that the Argentine Pharmaceutical Society, whose researches among medical plants must have led to much general observation among the animal and vegetable productions of the country, of which we have already had proof from their active and intelligent secretary, Mr. Murray, might extend their objects and operations so as to assimilate their institution to that of the Acclimatization Society, which might be effected by their increasing the number and class of members, and calling into their aid all such persons as might be desirous and qualified to render general service.

I have submitted these few observations to you with a view to provoking some discussion on a subject not unworthy the attention of the public.

Believe me, gentlemen,

Yours very truly,

FRANK PARISH.

THE EUROPA.

To the Editors of the Standard.

Gentlemen,

Please publish the following statement, which I guarantee.

E. M.

"The undersigned British subjects and passengers by the British brigantine Europa, Captain Faccio, at present anchored in the port of Montevideo, from Gibraltar, declare that during the voyage we spoke several vessels, including H.B.M. transport, 'Union of the North,' with the 14th Regiment bound to Bombay. The said Captain Faccio, to our astonishment, instead of hoisting the English flag as in duty bound, has substituted always the rather unknown one of Jerusalem (as, no doubt, he felt ashamed of the flag he sailed under). We call the attention of the maritime authorities of Gibraltar to the fact, and to take more care in future to whom they give in charge our flag.

"Buenos Ayres, Dec. 7, 1863.

LOCAL EVENTS.

THE OLD TRICK.—The Municipality of Belgrano, we understand, purpose starting a raffle similar to that which caused all the row in Buenos Ayres. We had hoped that they had more sense. Those Municipal efforts for raising the wind are highly immoral.

THE CUSTOM-HOUSE.—

The price of patacones, or rather silver dollars, for the week is 36 85.

INDIAN INVASION.—In consequence of the recent invasion of Indians, Colonel Rivas determined to march out to the Tolderia of Catriel. At ten o'clock in the night, Colonel Rivas started with 50 National Guards, in the direction of Calfuquil, Manuel Grande, and having enlisted the services of some friendly Indians, went in front of the hordes of the invaders were known to be. About 120 of them were surprised, with their families, and were at once handed over to Catriel. Cows, horses, mares, and even sheep were rescued from them. The friendly Indians who accompanied O'Campo will get all this booty. Rivas marched out even two leagues further than O'Campo, to the Sierra Chica, but could meet nothing. Bravo O'Campo and Rivas.

BELGRANO.—Sunday next will be a great day in this little town, as it is to be named the feat day of its place. The artillery, if not previously required elsewhere, will be ranged under the hill and fire off salutes. Bands of music will play in the plaza. "Carne con cuero' and 'sortija' form the programme of the day's sport.

MADAME MOLLO.—We understand that this favourite prima donna will once more amongst us. We welcome her back most cordially, and hope she will favour us with a concert, since operas are now out of question.

THE MENAY.—The Argentine Government, in consequence of what occurred to the Liberteat the other day, have given subsequent detention to the Menay, put an officer and pennant on board previous to her leaving on Monday evening for Montevideo. She is, therefore, under the character of a war steamer, and cannot be detained by the Custom-house authorities.

RIVER PLATE MAGAZINE.—We have received the prospectus of which we published some few weeks since, is, we are happy to say, now in the hands of the printers, and will be ready for delivery on the last day of this month.

THE SAN JUAN BAUTISTA.—This Argentine war brig has arrived in port from the rivers. It is said that she will be disarmed and cut up.

PENALOZA'S FUNERAL.—We are happy to say that the funeral ceremony performed in Montevideo on the Colonel was properly attended. Not one foreigner was present.

THE BUEY DEL SALADO.—Forster says that the race with Gaucho Rico could be run over again as the dust was so great that the poor Gaucho could not see his way, and ran against the wires frequently.

SELTZER WATER.—We recommend to our readers some superb Seltzer, which Messrs. Torres and Barton, Calle Defensa, No. 65, have just received. We have tasted it, and are in saying, that it is the best we have ever drank.

IMPORTANT ARRIVAL.—We notice the arrival of 160 cases of sewing machines to Messrs Covert and Blythe, No. 59 Calle Florida. These machines are the celebrated Singer & Co., and are the most finished specimens we have ever seen We advise our lady readers to pay a visit to Messrs. Covert and Blythe's establishment.

NEFARIOUS BUSINESS.—We are informed by an English resident in Fray Bentos that a lot of Brazilians have invaded that neighbourhood, and are paying as high as 13 silver dollars for horned cattle, when they are only worth 7 or 8, and that the object of these fellows is to buy up a few cows in order that they may have an excuse for driving all the stray cows in the neighbourhood into their troops.

THE CUSTOM HOUSE—This place seems to be almost done up, business is so dull. Mr. Perrer, the head-known English Custom-house broker, states that one would think, on going through the place, that it was a Whitsuntide, there is little stir or animation about the place.

BATHING—The 'bathing at the Mole-head seems now to be becoming quite fashionable. A remarkable few members of the 'Progreso' in, as we walked down near the hole.

STOP PRESS.

We hear with sincere satisfaction that all difficulties between the Oriental and Argentine Governments have been arranged, Brazil acting as umpire, and deciding what satisfaction the Oriental Government should give to the Argentine nation.

Important Sale of Wool

We are informed that the wool, more or less 1500 varobus, belonging to Messrs Prauge, of the estancia Nuevia Alemania, of the Banda Oriental, has been sold in a little under last year's price, i.e. five patacones, deliverable at the estancia This is nearly 1140 nuevo per arroba in paper money.

BIRTH

On the morning of the 9th inst., at Calle Belgrano, No. 74 MRS. E. T. Mulhall, of twins.

THE BOLSA.

Business in specie is very brisk: 237,432 pats. were sold to-day. Patacones opened at 37 63, and after fluctuating during the day, closed firm at the same price.

Exchange on France is going up. We are informed there are more drawers than takers.

We have received another communication respecting the Frenchman's complaint, which we have declined to publish. Although willing to give publicity to well-founded grievances, we cannot lend ourselves to unnecessary remarks.

We believed the statement of the German house in question; it came to us well guaranteed, but we can admit now no further remarks save those emanating from parties who may think themselves aggrieved by being unjustly alluded to.

ENGLISH GRAMMAR SCHOOL,
CALLE LARGA DE BARRACAS.
Dor.—Mr. Pongerard, of the London Univ sity College.
This Establishment, which from its foundation has been patronised by the principal British families of Buenos Ayres, is an exact reproduction of an E glish School where a sound commercial education combined with the acquisition of the French and Spanish languages is imparted to the pupils, and based upon the same system as in all first class European institutions of the kind.
An ever-watchful and constant supervision, and a strict maintenance of order and propriety, are a sufficient guarantee that the moral and behaviour of the pupils are carefully attended to.
The different branches taught in the English Grammar School comprise the English, French and Spanish languages History, Geography, Arithmetic, and Book-keeping in all forms, Writing and Religious Instruction.
Extra branches, such as Latin, Mathematics, German, Music and Drawing, are also taught by special masters.

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAUA & C°

— No. 103 calle de Cangallo. —

BUENOS-AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt, and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the Bank in which they place the most confidence
The Bank of Mauá & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city, a safe and profitable depository for their savings.
The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.
These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artizans, working-men & servants of all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other revilties
The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city following the example of their firm in Montevideo now offer the same facilities in this city and will open on the 1st October a "Savings Bank" at No. 103 calle Cangallo from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. on week days, and on Sundays and holidays from 10 a. m. to 12 noon for the reception of the savings of th classes already mentioned.
The Bank will deliver to each depositor a Pass Book in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.
The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited. In the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.
The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations while are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.
The Bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.
Buenos Ayres September 19th 1863.
p. p. Mauá & Co.
WILLIAM LESLIE.

CONDITIONS.

1st. The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty five dollars currency or one silver dollar upwards.
2nd. The interest allowed is six per cent (6 p$) per annum which is liquidated every six months
3rd. The depositor can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.
Once the amount deposited exceeds Twenty five thousand dollars currency or one thousand dollars silver the depositor if he wishes can open an account current according to the rules established by the Bank.
4th. In case the depositor loses his Pass Book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.

The shearing time being at hand, the Inventor of the Anti-Scab Specific for curing Cutaneous Diseases in Sheep, and all domestic Animals, begs to inform the Estancieros that it can never be applied to such effect as after shearing, when it not only cures the worst cases, but acts as a preservative against the disease.
The simplest method is bathing the animal, whether sound or affected, in the manner prescribed by the instructions.
The Specific has been already found an effectual remedy for Insects (Garrapatas).
Numerous certificates may be seen, showing the high a ptitude of the Specific throughout S. America. In low price places it within the reach of all, $ulls sufficing for 800 or 1000 Sheep. It contains no poisonous quality, and is sold at the above Depots.

Great and Useful Invention.
No more Mortality for want of Water.
Sure wealth to Estancieros
By the Robert Apparatus,
Being notorious the immense injury occasioned by the scarcity of water during the long seasa that afflicts the camps of Buenos Ayres, I have determined to dedicate to the Estancieros an Apparatus at once simple and infallible for procuring as much water as they may require.
120 Bordalesas per hour (it seems fabulous) is procured with my apparatus, without fear of at any time its being out of order.
This machine is worked by one horse, and in one day's work can give 1440 Bordalesas, that to say, sufficient water for 20,000 head of cattle.
By these figures can be calculated the immense advantages gained by its use.
Another advantage is the facility of putting it together and taking it to places where it may be able to transport it to any place where it may be necessary to use it, either for watering purposes or others.
GREAT MODIFICATION.
I have made an improvement in my Apparatus, applying a new system, which reduces the necessary forces two-thirds, giving it at the same time more rapidity.
Those interested can see it at Calle Moreno, No. 816 (Il ermita, Paris).
One sole inspection of the Apparatus will prove to them the superiority of it over any other.
ROBERT.
